Customer Success with ERP One: BSS

Watch the story

BSS Industrial is a British specialist distributor of heating, ventilation, pipeline and mechanical services equipment, operating across the country.

With 52 branches and two national distribution centres, BSS (part of the Travis Perkins Group) operates in a market where complex pricing and time-critical deliveries are the norm. However, their legacy business system limited visibility and slowed decision-making.

To stay competitive, BSS chose ERP One. Working with Klipboard, they delivered a phased rollout and became the first customer to use ERP One's webhooks for seamless integration.

Following a successful pilot, the system went live across all sites.

Since deployment, BSS has transformed operations with:

- Faster customer service at trade counters
- New starters onboarded in days instead of months
- Automated pricing and rebates with real-time margin visibility
- A scalable platform ready for future digital innovation

BSS continues to invest in its Klipboard ecosystem, with mobile and automation tools on the horizon, building on ERP One to drive the next phase of digital growth and reinforce its industry leadership.

We were on a legacy ERP system that was out of life. Klipboard was the unanimous winner. They have the industry knowledge. The product has to deal with the specialist areas that we have within our industry, which Klipboard provides with ERP One. When we upgrade, we don't have to do customisations, so the upgrade path in the future is a lot smoother. It modernises that process and makes people productive from day one.
